

DEBRA SHANKLE

Debra Shankle is the Vice President, Supply Chain for Coca-Cola North America. Debra's responsibilities include the management and leadership of the Coca-Cola North America Supply Chain. The Supply Chain is comprised of approximately 4000 associates and an annual spend of $4.3 Billion. Shankle has held positions of increasing responsibility at Coca-Cola including most recently as the Vice President, Conversion Sparkling West; Vice President, Central Region Manufacturing; Vice President, Southeast and East Region; Vice President, Manufacturing and Senior Vice President, Technical Office.

Prior to Coca-Cola, Shankle was employed with Sara Lee for 15 years and held a number of Supply Chain leadership roles including Chief Supply Chain Officer, Beverages; VP, Foodservice Supply Chain; VP, Supply Chain Strategy; and Group VP Operations. Shankle also worked for Frito-Lay, Inc. where she held positions of increasing responsibility in Operations, Logistics, Fleet Purchasing and Operations Planning functions.

Debra earned her BBA in Engineering Management from the University of Texas at Austin. Shankle presently serves on The University of Texas Longhorn Foundation Advisory Council. She recently received the Dallas Top 25 Business Women Award and was also recognized as a Dallas Female Corporate Achiever. Previously, she served on the Executive Council of The University of Texas Ex-Students Association; Board member of Gulf State Cannery, Inc. (a Coca-Cola Bottler) and the Dallas Black Dance Theater Board. She has also served as Executive Sponsor of the Sara Lee Women's Network and Co-Chair of the Arlington, Texas Cornerstone Baptist Church Capital Stewardship Campaign.

Debra is married to Doug Shankle and they enjoy spending time with family, traveling and attending Texas Longhorns and Dallas Cowboys football games together.